

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is AMC?

- The Australian-Makassan College will inshallah be the first Muslim community full-time school in the Northern Territory, offering both mainstream and Islamic education. The governing body of this school has been established and is called the 'Australian-Makassan College Inc.'. This is a not-for profit organisation that was formed jointly by the Islamic Society of Darwin (ISD), the Islamic Society of Palmerston (ISP) and the Islamic Council of the Northern Territory (ICNT).

Why the name?

- The name has been chosen to honour the first Muslims to come to Australia, the fishermen from the island of Makassar, Indonesia. It also honours the fact that this contact first took place in the NT. Furthermore it is a celebration of the rich cultural ties between Indonesia and the Indigenous people of Australia.

What is AMC doing now?

- In order to establish AMC as a viable governing body in order to make the land procurement process smoother and in keeping in line with the AMC's goal of expanding the Islamic education opportunities available in the NT the AMC will be conducting workshops, academic lectures and other events.
